New Ruling Passed in Regard Purchase of City Auto Tags

Delinquents Are Given 10-Day Period to Make Purchase

150 STILL UNPAID

Can Escape Court Appearance If Tags Are Bought Next 10 Days

The city council Tuesday night amended its ruling of two weeks ago in regard to purchasing city automobile tags.

The new set-up will give persons operating cars without city license a 10-day period to purchase tags, plus payment of $2.50 penalty, without the embarrassment of appearing in court.

Delinquents may go to the office of City Treasurer Charles Reynerson, pay the regular assessment plus a penalty of $2.50 and not go to court—that is, if this is done within the next 10 days.

After the 10 days have elapsed delinquents will again be forced to appear in court.

The delinquent list numbers approximately 150. City Treasurer Reynerson said Wednesday.

The council Tuesday night granted Henry Sommerville a permit to erect a gasoline pump at 107 South Walnut street, for private use, providing that the pump should not increase insurance rates on adjoining buildings.

The street committee made no report in regard to parking on Third street. After much discussion, the committee was again instructed to draw up an ordinance and present it at the next meeting of the council.

The street committee was also instructed to work out plans to eliminate a dip in the street crossing near First Methodist church.

A new peddler's ordinance was passed by the council, prohibiting the sale of various articles without obtaining license.

Mayor Albert Graves was appointed custodian of Hope city hall and Fair park.

Booker Testifies Against Luciano

Says He Was Forced to Pay Protection Money to Syndicate

NEW YORK.—(AP)—A former booker of prostitutes testified Wednesday at the trial of Charles (Lucky) Luciano that he was forced at the point of a gun to pay protection money to the vice syndicate.

The witness was Pete Harris, 33. He named one of Luciano's right hand men as the collector who threatened him.

Des Moines (Ia.) Editor Is a Visitor in Hope

Allen Parker Mize, Jr., telegraph editor of the Des Moines (Ia.) Tribune and M. H. Weaver, his father-in-law, of Shelton, Neb., visited A. H. Washburn here Tuesday. Mr. Mize, a native of Tusculoosa, Ala., and a graduate of the University of Alabama and Missouri, was a member of Washburn's staff on the El Dorado Daily News in 1928. He went to Des Moines the following year and rose to an executive position with the Register-Tribune company. Mr. Mize and Mr. Weaver, who had been visiting Mr. Mize's old home town, Tusculoosa, spent Tuesday night here before continuing to Shelton, Neb., where Mr. Mize will be joined by Mrs. Mize and their little girl in the return trip to Des Moines.

Aided in Capture of Robinson

Information given to police by Lynn F. Allen, Pasadena, Calif., drug clerk, shown above with his wife, is believed to have helped G-men capture Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., suspected of the 1934 kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Stoll, at Louisville, Ky. Allen is said to have become suspicious of Robinson when the 20-year-old fugitive entered his drug store several times dressed as a woman.

Zeppelin Reaches Lakehurst Safely

German Dirigible Hindenburg Completes Second Trip Across Ocean

LAKEHURST, N. J.—(AP)—The German dirigible Hindenburg was grounded at Lakehurst naval air station at 5:05 a. m. Wednesday after completing its second commercial crossing of the North Atlantic in 78 hours and 27 minutes.

The Zeppelin was hours behind the record she made on her maiden voyage to the United States. She soared through minor storms off the coast of the United States Tuesday night.

Previously she had weathered several heavy squalls.

Gasoline Tax Rate Flayed by Speakers

Governor Futrell, Among Others, Agreed That Rates Are Excessive

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Re-electing all officers, the Arkansas Oil Dealers Association heard Governor Futrell agree with other speakers Tuesday that "gasoline taxes are too high" and express belief that a reduction in the rate would result in increased revenue.

The officers named at the association's annual posts during the coming year were Chairman Jim D. Flynn, Little Rock; vice chairman A. F. Reed, El Dorado and secretary W. F. Scarborough, Little Rock. Committee reports preceded the election.

The chief executive told more than 400 delegates to the meeting that reduction of automobile license fees had resulted in increased revenue.

Others attacking gasoline tax rates were Colonel T. H. Barton, El Dorado, president of the Lion Oil Refining company; Victor P. Seales, New York, director of publicity for the American Petroleum industries committee and G. D. Holland, manager of the Camden Chamber of Commerce.

Declaring that excessively high gasoline tax schedules encouraged tax evasion and gasoline bootlegging, Barton said that "the petroleum industry has never objected to a reasonable state gasoline tax because it recognizes that the benefits to the public more than offset the disadvantage of this tax so long as the revenues are used exclusively for highways."

He said that the Arkansas motorist provides more than 75 per cent of the state's general tax funds.

Hitler Is Shaken at Burial of Chauffeur

MUNICH, Germany.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler, white and visibly shaken Tuesday buried the only man he trusted to drive his motor cars—Julius Schreck.

He buried him without preacher or prayer, in the custom of the black-shirted Schutz Staffel, the select formation which guards Dr. Fuhrer's life while it is on.

Schreck, who fought shoulder to shoulder with Hitler in the Munich beer garden putsch more than decade ago, went to prison with him and then became his lone chauffeur for thousands upon thousands of miles, died here Saturday at the age of 38. He had palsy-meningitis.

A speech replaced a sermon. The Schutz Staffel song of allegiance to their leader, "When Everyone Else Becomes Disloyal," was sung instead of a psalm.

The main act, commonly known as the white slave act, was passed by Congress in 1910.

Landon Rolls Up Big Majority in Jersey Balloting

Has Four to One Advantage Over Sen. Borah in Prefential

HOFFMAN IS LOSING

Drops From First to Fourth Place Among Five Candidates

NEWARK, N. J.—(AP)—Governor Landon of Kansas, was assured, of at least 26 of New Jersey's 32 votes at the Republican national convention when returns from the state's primary were three fifths complete Wednesday.

He also continued his sweep of preferential voting, having four to one advantage over Senator Borah of Idaho.

Interest turned anew to the fight of Governor Hoffman to retain his position as the titular head of the Republican party in this state.

As the totals mounted, Governor Hoffman dropped from first to fourth place in the contest of five candidates.

Drouth Felt in 4 Southern States

Georgia, Carolinas and Alabama Badly in Need of Rainfall

ATLANTA, Ga.—(AP)—Drouth menaced cotton and general farm crops in the South Wednesday.

Serious conditions prevailed over large portions of Georgia, Alabama, eastern Tennessee and the Carolinas.

Four other southern states enjoyed nearly normal rainfall and fair to good crop prospects. They are: Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and western Tennessee.

Economic Recovery in China Is Seen

Stability of Money Held Assured With Aid of United States

SHANGHAI.—(AP)—Permanent stability of the Chinese currency, leading to "greater economic improvement and prosperity for the Chinese people," was predicted Tuesday by the nation's financial authority in discussing the United States agreement to purchase silver here.

Dr. H. H. Kung, minister of finance of the Nationalist government, said, "The American purchases which Secretary Morgenthau's announcement anticipates will extend over a period of months, involving a considerable amount of the white metal."

Bowen to Conduct Prayer Service Here

The Rev. W. A. Bowen, former pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, will have charge of the prayer meeting service at First Baptist church Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. Rev. Bowen is now pastor of the First Baptist church in San Marcos, Texas.

The Sunday school teachers' meeting will begin at 7:35. The first lesson in the teachers' training course will start with Mrs. Gus Haynes teaching the book, "Outline of Bible History," Wednesday night.

Teachers' Pet

The designation of "teachers' pet" usually is anathema to students, but when applied to Lilia Arguedas of New York University it is an honor, for she was selected by professors of the School of Commerce as their favorite pupil. She's the daughter of J. Arturo Arguedas, Bolivian vice consul of La Paz, Bolivia.

Preferential in State Impossible

Law Fixing Primary Date Is Cited by Committee Members

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Two Democratic state committee members said here Tuesday night that there is no possibility of holding a suggested state preferential primary for elimination of all except two candidates in any race in which more than that number are entered this year.

"I am a strong proponent of the two-off primary but only when it is conducted under statutory restrictions that will protect the candidates and the voters," said June R. Wooten, member of the state committee.

"An informal preferential primary would have to be held without sanction of law," he said, "and there would be unlimited opportunity for fraud with no means of contesting the result."

"August 11 is fixed as the date of the primary this year, not by any action of the state committee but by state law, and as I see it the committee would be powerless to conduct a preferential primary as it would be to alter the regular primary date."

Committee member Sam Rorex expressed almost the same view, declaring that "in the absence of an act of the legislature, I don't see how a satisfactory preferential primary could be undertaken merely through some action of the state committee."

Four years ago a special meeting of the state committee was called to consider a proposal similar to that now being offered, and at that time the body adopted a resolution conceding that it was without authority to hold a preferential primary, recommending run-off primary legislation. The next legislature passed such a law but the 1935 assembly repealed the measure.

J. D. Head, Texarkana, chairman of the state committee earlier in the day had voiced his opinion on the proposal, about 10 days before the regular primary. August 11, was suggested by J. Bruce Street, Camden attorney, who pointed out that Ouachita county had followed the system successfully since 1924.

Section of Flood Control Bill Is Flayed in Senate

President's Authority to Select Projects Is Questioned

TAX BILL ISSUE UP

Finance Committee Approves Windfall Tax on Processors

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A section of the $384,000,000 flood control bill to give the president authority to select projects for execution "in order of their emergency," was attacked Wednesday in the senate.

The section was attacked after Senator Vandenberg, Republican, inquired what justification there was for such a provision.

Senator Clark, Democrat, argued that the selection of the emergency control projects should continue to rest with the board of Army engineers.

Tax Less Stringent
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—In its first decisive action on the tax bill, the senate finance committee Wednesday approved in modified form the 80 per cent windfall tax on processors who escaped payment of the old AAA processing taxes.

The changes were designed to make the tax less stringent in its application.

Pension Checks to Be in Mails June 1

Approximately 10,000 Persons in State to Get Relief Funds

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Moving toward the goal of making first old age pension payments on June 1, State Welfare Commissioner Charles H. Andrews announced Tuesday that he expected complete lists of those eligible to receive the funds to be in his office Wednesday.

Boards in 73 counties had forwarded their lists to the office Tuesday night and reports from Lonoke and Chicot were expected Wednesday. Tabulation of eligibles will follow immediately.

"Care is being taken so that those most destitute will receive payments when the program starts," asserted Andrews. He predicted checks would be sent to approximately 10,000 persons.

Federal Relief Is Nearly a 'Fixture'

Both Administration and Critics See It for Year at Least

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON.—In spite of the congressional marching and countermarching on the relief bill, it is fairly evident that the man on work relief will get his pay next year on about the same terms as in the past.

Administrator Harry Hopkins and President Roosevelt have made it plain repeatedly they are opposed to earmarking any part of the fund or to turning its administration over to the states.

The same efforts made by Republicans to accomplish those two aims in the senate but with a like expectation of failure.

Having its way over Republican opposition does not solve the administration's relief problem by any means. Both Democrats and Republicans are dissatisfied with the effect the spending of billions has had in reducing the number of unemployed. Even with the addition of the requested billion and a half, the same questions arise: How long must federal relief billions be supplied?

What will incite an industrial development to employ the millions of jobless?

Material For Thought
Those questions furnish Democrats with material for worry and Republicans with material for campaign speeches.

President Roosevelt told a press conference he was seeking an answer to the second question in conferences with such industrial leaders as Walter P. Chrysler and Owen D. Young. An answer to the second would mean:

Permanent Revenue Farm Program Need, Tells Bureau Rally

AAA Cotton Chief Blasts Critics of Outlawed Processing Tax—Tariff Cost More, He Tells Crowd at Experiment Farm

C. A. Cobb, director of the Southern division of the AAA, headed a speaking program at a Farm Bureau Federation rally which drew 2,500 persons to the grounds of the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station here Wednesday.

Mr. Cobb's was the featured address at 2:30 p. m. Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, was unable to appear as scheduled, due to an operation on his son Tuesday, and his place on the program was filled by W. R. Ogg, acting secretary of the national organization.

Mr. Cobb's speech in full follows:

Cobb's Speech
"It gives me very genuine pleasure to be here today to discuss with Arkansas farmers the new Agricultural Conservation Program for 1936. It is rather a coincidence that one of my first speeches dealing with the plow-up program in 1933 was made in Arkansas. Again one of my first speeches on the voluntary adjustment program in 1934 was made in Arkansas, and I met with Arkansas farmers to discuss the Bankhead Act in its early inception. And today I am here to discuss a new agricultural program for the Nation and for the South.

"Changes have come about at an exceedingly rapid rate since the passage of the Agricultural Adjustment Act in the spring of 1933. Some of these changes were of our own design and others were forced upon us. Yet, on the whole, we have made rapid progress and have profited by the experience we have had and I am convinced that we are beginning to see a long-time agricultural program that is a decided improvement in many ways over any of the previous programs we have had. It may not be possible to accomplish results as rapidly and to the same exactness as was possible under the commodity control programs. However, on the other hand, the results accomplished through the operation of the Agricultural Conservation Program will be more permanent than could have been possible under the commodity programs.

"Upon each of my previous appearances in Arkansas I did not hesitate to outline the objectives of the program and the results we anticipated. On each occasion I made definite commitments to you as to what could and would be accomplished by each of the programs. I think you will agree with me that the accomplishments of the commodity control programs during the past three years, particularly in the case of cotton, exceeded our expectations.

The Soil Act
"Today it seems appropriate to discuss and think together about the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, and to say a word about how we expect it to operate in 1936. In explaining the purposes of the Act I cannot improve upon the wording of the Act itself. Congress set forth these purposes in simple and clear language. In the language of the Act, 'It is hereby declared to be the policy of this Act also to secure and the purpose of this Act shall also include (1) preservation and improvement of soil fertility, (2) promotion of the economic use and conservation of land, (3) diminution of exploitation and wasteful and unscientific use of natural resources, (4) the protection of rivers and harbors against the results of soil erosion in aid of maintaining the navigability of waters and water courses and in aid of flood control, (5) reestablishment at as rapid a rate as the Secretary of Agriculture determines to be practicable and in the general public interest of the ratio between the purchasing power of a fine net income per person on farms and that of the income per person not on farms that prevailed during the five-year period August 1909—July 1914.'

"The accomplishment of these purposes will mean much to the farmers of the south and to the farmers of the nation. It will mean conserving and building land rather than robbing it and destroying it. It will mean better farming—the balanced type of farming we have talked about so long. It will mean improved income to farmers. It will mean improved living conditions on the farm, improved schools, improved churches, and improved and better communities in which to live. These are the long-time effects of such a program as is provided for in the Act. They are the effects that will bring security and satisfaction. There can neither be security nor satisfaction until they are achieved.

"But what about the objective for 1936? Under the Agricultural Conservation Program as outlined for 1936 it is planned to divert 30 million acres from soil-depleting commercial crops to soil-conserving non-commercial crops. Normally in the United States we have about 300 million acres in soil-depleting crops and 100 million acres in soil-conserving crops. In 1936 we plan to divert 30 million of these acres to soil-conserving crops, and to raise the total for the nation to 130 million acres devoted exclusively to soil-conserving crops.

40% From the South
"The nine states composing the Southern Region will be expected to divert approximately 13 million acres from soil-depleting commercial crops to soil-conserving non-commercial crops that build it up. This means that our share of the task represents over 40 per cent of the 30 million acres to be diverted in the whole country in 1936. As a matter of fact the South should divert a larger percentage of the total than other areas for the very simple reason that we normally devote a much larger percentage of our land to soil-depleting crops than any other section of the country. We have continued for three quarters of a century or more to deplete our soil in the production of commercial crops—principally cotton—consequently we have not only failed to properly conserve our soil but have failed to supply our own food and feed needs. This was not done because farmers in the South wanted to follow such a course. They were forced by the necessity of circumstances to go on from year to year, plowing the soil and at the same time to build up burdensome supplies of cash crops. In 1932 we wound up the season with 13 million bales of cotton that could not be sold even for as little as 6 cents per pound. The new program provides opportunity to avoid that and to maintain some of the gains already made under the commodity programs of the past three years and to make gains that were impossible of accomplishment under the old commodity control programs.

"Farmers in Arkansas are expected to divert approximately 1 million acres from soil-depleting to soil-conserving crops in 1936, and cotton farmers in the state are expected to divert 90 per cent of this total. There are normally about 6 million acres in Arkansas devoted to soil-depleting crops. To divert 1 million acres in 1936 each producer in the state will need to plant not less than 1 acre of soil-conserving crops to each 5 acres of soil-depleting crops. Included in the list of soil-conserving crops are annual winter legumes, biennial legumes, perennial legumes, summer legumes, perennial grasses, winter cover crops, and forest trees. This list of soil-conserving crops is complete enough, we think, to meet the conditions found in any section of the Southern Region. While the seed supply of some of the crops is not abundant, we feel that it is adequate to meet our needs in 1936 if diligent care is used in the preparation of proper seed beds and if the crops as a rule are planted in rows or drills rather than broadcast.

Results Are Plentiful
"You have abundant evidence as to what can be accomplished with soil-conserving crops in Arkansas. Each experiment station in the state has for a number of years carried on tests and demonstrations with both summer and winter soil-conserving crops. You have seen the results of these tests to determine the best particular crop or crops for your farm and to determine the best practices to follow in growing these crops. In every community of the state there are farmers who for a period of years have grown soil-conserving crops—farmers who have demonstrated to their neighbors the effects of a systematic soil-building program. Those farmers who have practiced soil conservation do not have to devote as many acres to soil-depleting cash crops as others because their yields are increased from year to year and they are getting larger and better crops from fewer acres. Because they have fewer acres of depleting crops they have more acres on which to grow food and feed crops for home consumption and on which to grow soil-conserving crops. Because they are working fewer acres of soil-depleting crops they have the labor with which to grow soil conserving crops. You have already observed they not only have higher yields but they have better feed livestock, they have better homes in which to live and they have more leisure in which to enjoy living.

"The human effects of the Agricultural Conservation Program are even more vital than the conservation of land. We are not merely working with land, we are working with people who live on the land and who

Consolation

My heart was meant for breaking.
So what's another pain?
For one who finds a lasting song
In slanting silver rain?

Who runs to meet the morning
And reaches for the moon?
Who loves a rose like living—
Or death, should it be soon?

My heart was meant for breaking.
So what's another pain?
Just one more call for courage.
Challenge to smile again.

Oh, I shall find the courage.
And I shall own the smile.
Who then can know that heartache
Has measured every mile?—Selected.

Chaplin Film at Saenger Thursday

Charlie's First in Five Years Is Titled "Modern Times"

Charlie Chaplin in "Modern Times," the comedian's long-awaited new comedy comes to the Saenger Thursday and Friday.

Almost two years in production, Chaplin's first picture in almost five years is also his most pretentious. Like his predecessor, "City Lights," "Modern Times" is without dialogue, but boasts some novel sound effects.

The comedy, which introduces the familiar little figure in the big shoes and baggy trousers into the relatively complex environment of a big industrial city, casts Charlie as a factory worker with a talent for getting out of jobs and into jail, and who subsequently finds employment in such widely divergent capacities as shipyard worker, night watchman and singing waiter. The story, which was written by Chaplin and marks the first time he has ever worked from a prepared script, is said to involve him in the most hilarious situations of his entire career. The star also produced and directed the film and wrote the music.

The girl, a victim of the waterfront to whom Charlie plays knight errant, is played by Chaplin's lovely new leading lady, Paulette Goddard, who has been pronounced a genuine screen find.

Others in the cast are Chet Conklin, Henry Bergman and Hank Mann.

Freddie Lindstrom Quits Pro Baseball

Leg Injury Believed to Have Prompted Retirement After 12 Years

NEW YORK—(AP)—Freddie Lindstrom, "boy wonder" of John McGraw's 1924 pennant-winning New York Giants, hung up his baseball glove Tuesday.

Although only 30 years old with 12 full major league campaigns behind him, the veteran outfielder and former third baseman notified the Brooklyn Dodgers he believed his playing days were over and asked to be placed on the voluntary retired list.

"He told us by letter," said Business Manager John Gorman, "that he no longer could be of any aid to the club. We tried to discourage him and Tuesday morning Manager Casey Stengel had a long talk with him. We're sorry to see him go, but evidently he has made up his mind."

A leg injury suffered last Friday in the game between the Dodgers and the Pittsburgh Pirates was believed by Gorman to have prompted Lindstrom's decision. He was signed by the Dodgers January 16, a few days after being unconditionally released by the Chicago Cubs. Lindstrom played in 26 of the Dodgers' 29 games this year and batted only 246.

Lindstrom broke into the majors with the Giants in 1924 as a utility infielder at the age of 19. He replaced Heinie Groh at third base in the world series, playing all seven games and hitting .333.

Lindstrom, Travis Jackson and Bill Terry earned regular jobs with the Giants the next season. Freddie remained with the McGraw clan through the 1932 campaign. He reached his batting peak in 1930 when he hit .379 in 143 games.

In 1932 he was traded to the Pittsburgh Pirates and remained with them until 1935 when he went to the Cubs. Up to this year Lindstrom had a 12-year batting average of .312.

Federal Relief Is

at least part of the issue involved in the first.

Two possible avenues opened up, manufacture of rail equipment and of "factory made" houses at a price low incomes can pay.

Candidly the President agreed the railroads could not buy extensively with their present capital limitations, and that the mass production house with an "F. O. B. Detroit" tag on it has not come out of the contemplation stage.

Politicians Have Suggestions There have been suggestions that it would be politically wise for the Democrats to return relief administration to the states, with federal assistance. Republican charges that WPA is "in politics up to its neck" would then fall back on the governors.

The suggestions presuppose that this election will put back in office a number of Republican governors who don't would be burdened with a share of the criticism that has welled up against the Roosevelt administration not only from Republican sources but from Democrats.

Republican critics of the bill in the senate expected some Democratic support for a motion to put the states in charge of relief administration, but were doubtful they could hold even their own ranks together in line.

While a spirited effort for earmarking part of the money was planned, there was more than one Republican critic of WPA operations who privately expressed the view that as long as federal relief is to be administered on a makeshift basis, a fresh and must be given the administrator.

The devotion was rendered by Mrs. C. M. Irwin, Prayer by Mrs. D. E. Goodlett. "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was sung by all.

Reports were given by the following leaders: Clothing, art craft, food preservation, poultry, home management, landscaping and gardening.

After the business meeting, Miss Griffin's assistant, Miss Vilma Alford, gave an interesting demonstration on home-made awnings.

A short recreational period was had.

Oak Grove The Oak Grove Home Demonstration club met May 11th in the home of Miss Lois Purtle with 12 members and two visitors present. Three new members were added to the roll, being Mrs. Mrs. Quinen Young, Mrs. Lee Englund and Mrs. Marshall Beck.

The club was called to order by the president at 2 o'clock after singing "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

Mrs. E. E. Mobley being absent, Mrs. S. B. Skinner led the devotion, reading the first chapter of Ruth, followed by prayer. Minutes were read and adopted. The roll call was answered by each one telling the nicest thing a neighbor ever did for them.

Little Miss Louise Collier gave a very interesting reading, Mothers' Day. Miss Alford gave a demonstration on making awnings.

Mrs. Jim Skinner being the recreational leader, games and contest were enjoyed, prize winner being Mrs. Marshall Beck.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Leo Collier, June 8th.

Melrose Melrose club met on May 14 at the home of Mrs. Joe Taulbee with 11 members. Mrs. F. H. Roberts used the first chapter of Ruth for the scripture reading, followed with prayer by Mrs. Perryman.

The roll call answered by each telling the best thing any one ever done for you and the reading of the minutes stood approved.

Miss Nelva Perryman gave a reading about "Mother." Miss Griffin gave us a surprise as well as a treat by bringing Miss Gertrude Conant of Little Rock to our club. Miss Conant is a food preparation and nutrition specialist and we all enjoyed her talk.

She told us how to prepare different kinds of food and about their value and we all feel that we have gained by having her with us.

Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Otha Roberts on June 11. Our meeting closed by repeating the club prayer.

Atlanta to Play at Okay Sunday

Game Will Mark Formal Opening of the New Ball Park

Sunday, May 24th, marks the formal opening of Okay's new ball park when the Okay Cementers clash with the Atlanta, (Texas) Oilers.

The Cementers have been working out regularly for the past three weeks and are said to be in good condition. One of the largest crowds ever to attend a baseball game in Howard county is anticipated.

Okay's lineup is as follows: Pitcher, Diddy; catchers, Dodson and Thompson; infield, R. Holbert, Delaney, B. Holbert, Phillips, Walters, Loft and Sanders; outfield, Page, Russell, Hargis and Freeman.

The Atlanta Oilers are managed by "Ben" Alday, an ex-Texas leaguer and they have one of the fastest teams in the oil belt.

Game will be called at 3:15 and admission will be 15 and 25 cents.

Open Squirrel Season for Arkansas Remains

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—The open season on squirrel hunting in Arkansas remains unchanged pending a decision by Chancellor Frank H. Dodge on a suit brought by William Hair and C. I. Pond of Arkansas county to restrain the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission from enforcing its order shortening the season to August 15-December 31.

Chancellor Dodge took under advisement Tuesday for a later decision the suit which seeks a permanent injunction to forbid the commission from changing the squirrel season from its present two seasons—May 15, June 15 and October 1, January 1—as fixed by Act 160 of 1927.

A temporary injunction issued previously by Judge Dodge will remain in effect until a final decree is entered.

Get that V-8 Feeling and See!

YOU can size up some cars by their "features." But you can't size up a Ford until you drive this great new 1936 V-8. For here is performance of the only V-8 engine in any car below $1645. Here is roadability made possible by a unique spring and chassis construction. Here is riding quality based on 123" springbase—almost a foot longer than wheelbase.

Twenty minutes in a Ford V-8 begins to tell you how much these mean. You get an entirely different "feel." You get around quicker in traffic. You drive with less effort. You find a car in a class by itself for sheer modern performance.

Yet the V-8 has proved the most economical type of car Ford ever built—and the 1936 car the most economical of V-8's. Before you decide on any new car, drive this 1936 Ford V-8.

PERFORMANCE WITH ECONOMY Terms as low as $25 a month, after down-payment, under new CCC 1/2 per cent a month plan. Prices $510 and up, FOB Detroit, including Safety Glass throughout in every body type. Standard accessory group extra.

There's More to this Corsette than meets the eye!

The picture shows you what's behind the suave pink exterior of this grand Corsette, for the woman whose proportions are those of a Juno, rather than Venus. (Juno was a goddess, too, don't forget!)

That hidden underbelt, by way of boning and an uncannily clever arrangement of elastic bands, holds in the abdomen, flattens it, yet leaves you free to breathe, move, stretch. Prepare for a transformation scene when you try on this new

ORDINANCE NO. 507
An Ordinance to Be An Ordinance Entitled An Ordinance Fixing Certain Licenses for Hawking, Peddling and/or Soliciting and Providing Penalties for the Violation Thereof, and for Other Purposes.

Be It Ordained by the City Council of The City of Hope, Arkansas:

Section 1. Whoever shall engage in the business of selling goods, wares or merchandise of any description other than goods, wares, or merchandise produced or manufactured by the seller himself by going from house to house or place to place, and selling and/or offering to sell such goods, wares or merchandise, either to consumers or retail dealers, shall be, and is hereby, declared to be a peddler or hawker.

Section 2. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale, attempt to sell, peddle or attempt to peddle, any goods, wares, merchandise, medicine or articles of any kind whatsoever, except such goods, wares or merchandise as has been produced or manufactured by the seller himself, or to give any show, entertainment, exhibition of any kind, for the purpose of advertising any goods, wares, merchandise, medicine or articles of any kind, on any of the streets, sidewalks, alleys, public squares, or other public grounds of the City of Hope, Arkansas, without first obtaining a license therefor from the City of Hope, Arkansas, in the manner hereinafter provided.

Section 3. Any person desiring to obtain the license required by Section 2 of this Ordinance, shall make written application therefor, upon forms to be furnished by the City, to the City Clerk of Hope, Arkansas, who shall issue such licenses upon the payment by such person of the amounts hereinafter provided.

Section 4. The fees for the licenses required shall be as follows, to-wit: (a). For peddling clothing, shoes or any other goods, wares, or merchandise not herein specifically named, $50.00 per annum.

(b). For peddling toys, images, figures, selling cleansing preparations, $30.00 per annum.

(c). For peddling books other than the Bible, $20.00 per annum.

(d). For peddling patent medicines or other medicines or soap, or toilet preparations and cosmetics or formulas or recipes, $30.00 per annum.

(e). For peddling bread and or cakes, or other bakery products, $50.00 per annum.

Section 5. The licenses provided for herein shall not be transferable and shall be collected on a calendar year basis, provided, however, should application for license be made after June 30th, then, and in that event, the license shall be for one half of the annual license and shall expire on December 31st of the year in which purchased.

Section 6. Any person, firm or corporation engaged in soliciting or canvassing orders for any goods, wares or merchandise shall pay a license of $50.00 per annum, which may be paid in semi-annual installments.

Section 7. Any person, firm or corporation violating this Ordinance, or any part hereof, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not less than Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) nor more than Fifty ($50.00) for each offense, and each day of such violation shall be deemed a separate offense.

Section 8. If any section, or any part of this Ordinance, is adjudged to be unconstitutional, such adjudication shall not affect the validity and constitutionality of the remainder of this Ordinance.

Section 9.—All Ordinances and/or parts of Ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed; and whereas there are conflicting Ordinances with respect to the subject matter hereof, which result in confusion for persons desiring to peddle goods, wares or merchandise within the City of Hope, Arkansas, and makes it difficult to enforce such Ordinances, an emergency is hereby declared, and this Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and publication.

ALBERT GRAVES Mayor.
T. R. Billingsley City Clerk.
